

NUNANNGUAQ

In the Likeness of the Earth

OCTOBER 10, 2009
to JANUARY 17, 2010

Programs

Nunanguaq: In the Likeness of the Earth

Family Sunday:

October 11

Northern Exposure

11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Prompted by the special exhibition Nunanguaq: In the Likeness of the Earth, children will learn about the Inuit culture and participate in Inuit-inspired art activities. A curator-led tour and talk will also be available for families. Register upon arrival. Tour spaces are limited.

ArtChat:

November 29

Tracing the Footsteps: An Inuit Journey

For generations, constantly moving on the land was a way of life for the Inuit. This experience strongly influenced the structure of the northern communities and their perception of the natural environment. Based on the current exhibition Nunanguaq: In the Likeness of the Earth, this ArtChat will explore the unique artistic vision of the Inuit and discuss the role of the journey through their art.

Lectures:

December 12

NUNANARA: The Vast Arctic Landscape

11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Witness the comings and goings of a people who lived in the Arctic for over 4,000 years and enjoy this rare glimpse into one of the most fascinating places on earth and one of the youngest ecosystems on this planet. In this talk, Norman Hallendy, an Arctic researcher, writer, photographer, designer, artist, and chronicler of Inuit life and landscapes, illustrates a journey across Canada's Arctic landscape.

Cost: $30 general public; $20 McMichael members.